State police investigate deadly Stanton triple shooting

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

Police are trying to figure out exactly what sparked a deadly turn of events late Tuesday afternoon. An apparent domestic situation involving a former boyfriend upset of the break up of the relationship resulted in a triple shooting which included the alleged shooter pulling the trigger on himself.

Police received a call near 4 p.m. that a woman had been shot on the corner of Railroad Street and Sipple Street. When they arrived they found Lori Hall Boswell in her family's driveway with a gunshot wound to the face.

Neighbors quickly described the shooter and the vehicle he was driving. Police from all over the county began to search as state police unit were requested to assist.

Another call came in just moments later of an apparent shooting and a person down on Karen Drive, behind the Stanton Airport. Officers responded to the scene and set up a road block at Airport Road.

Police found a female dead at the scene on Karen Drive with what appeared to be a gunshot wound to the head.

Neighbors reportedly told officers that Rhonda McIntosh Rogers confronted the shooter with a ball bat as he was apparently looking for Boswell's new boyfriend. She was reportedly shot twice in the face.

Police found the truck they were looking for coming off of Airport Road and swerved into the Save-A-Lot parking lot.

Stanton Police Sgt. Greg Conner tried to get the driver, identified later as Randal T. Derickson, to pull over. Derickson, 50, of Stanton, reportedly "gunned the engine" and sped toward Conner while "brandishing a weapon."

Conner fired two shots into the windshield of the truck, but missed

Derickson. Officers began to pursue Derickson northbound on College Avenue. Derickson then reportedly sideswiped two vehicles as he tried to get away.

"He made a quick turn onto Washington Street and then a quick turn on to Halls Road," Stanton Police Officer Phillip Frazier said. "He turned back onto Sipple Street, I guess trying to get away."

An ambulance was blocking Derickson's way as he approached the Hall residence again. Officers say that Derickson came to a stop, pulled the gun up to his head and fired one round.

Ambulance crews worked hard to save both Derickson and Boswell. Helicopters refused to fly into the area due to weather, but did meet the ambulance crews at the Clark Regional Medical Center.

As of press time on Tuesday evening, there was no confirmation of the conditions of either Boswell or Derickson.

Sources indicated that it appears to be a "grave situation" for both of them.

Stanton woman pleads guilty to embezzlement

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

A local restaurant owner has run afoul of the law in federal courts and admitted to not mentioning the fact she received a huge insurance settlement while receiving state and federal benefits intended for people in need. She also admitted she did not disclose that she was the owner of a restaurant.

All of this came to light this past week in federal court documents and was reported across the state in various newspapers and on television stations.

Federal court documents state that Pamela Sue Helton, of Stanton, pleaded guilty last Tuesday to embezzling money from the Social Security Administration and concealing information when applying for benefits. Helton reportedly works and owns Bruen's Restaurant.

According to the charges in her case, Helton was approved to start receiving SSI benefits in September 2006. She was also to begin receiving Medicaid. The SSI federal program is for disabled people who have very little if any income or ways to generate income.

Part of the government's problem with this case is that Helton apparently received an insurance settlement. Sources have indicated that Helton received a settlement for $356,000.

Though Helton is allegedly bound by an agreement not to talk about the settlement, other sources familiar with the situation have indicated to the Times that it stemmed from a claim she filed against the Clark Regional Medical Center.

As for the charge that she did not disclose that she was the owner of a restaurant, sources close to the family have stated that Helton's husband actually owns the business. However, Helton apparently does work there and the business is considered "family owned."

Helton declined to comment on the advice of her attorney as she is waiting to be sentenced. The maximum sentence for the charges Helton pleaded guilty for is 10 years. The government stated that Helton obtained $125,635 of SSI and Medicaid benefits that will need to be paid back. Restitution could also be part of the sentencing.

Helton is due back in federal court to be sentenced on Aug. 10.

Accident on Morris Creek turns fatal

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

An accident sent three people to area hospitals after a driver clipped another vehicle as they tried to pass back on May 6 has turned fatal. Kentucky State Police issued a press release last Thursday saying that a Montgomery County woman, who was seriously injured in the accident, died from her injuries.

An officer was also wounded in the rescue attempt.

The Powell County Dispatch Center received a call about a two vehicle accident at the intersection of Highway 213 and Jerrica Leigh Lane on the morning of May 6. Powell EMS, along with local and state law enforcement officials responded to the area. According to state police, Billy Flippo was attempting to turn onto Jerrica Leigh Lane from Highway 213. A 2005 Mercury Sable driven by Richard Noble, reportedly from Camargo, attempted to pass Flippo. During the maneuver Noble apparently struck the left front bumper of Flippo's vehicle. Noble then lost control and went over an

Clay City woman is on a 'mission' and is finger painting her way there

While some young people dream of traveling or maybe helping others. Carresa Michelle Steppe is trying to make both happen for her.

Steppe has found what she believes to be her niche in life and that is to be a missionary. But like many who choose that path, making it happen takes help from above. So she credits her art skills and the money she is raising by selling her artwork to God.

"He woke me up one night and let me know that I could use modeling clay to literally paint pictures," Steppe, 21 of Clay City, said. It works and the fact that I have raised $1,500 in two months is proof that God will provide when we do His work."

Steppe finger paints with the clay and by using the various colors, comes up with unique prints – literally. "Each painting has a message and each one is an original. There are duplicates," Steppe explained. "I not only sign them but my thumbprint is also in the corner and in that thumbprint is a small cross. That shows that God's fingerprints are on each of us and that He made each of us unique. You can't duplicate or copy the work without the artist."

Steppe has already begun her missionary work. She has been to Romania and Germany with a group. But now she wants to stretch ut a little on her own.

"I'll be going to Kenya from Aug. 12 to Sept. 29 on my own and then on to Somalia with the group to help with Christian refugees, at least that's the plan," she said. "In that part of the world right now it is their dry season and the crops are low, so we are looking to help feed them and feed them God's word."

Steppe said she will also take part in a trip to a prison in Uganda and help train a group to go to Morocco. "Jesus asks us in Matthew 18: 19-20 to 'go unto all the world preaching the gospel.' That is what I am trying to do," Steppe said with a little enthusiasm. "The Bible says that many are called, those who are called have to be willing to say Yes, I am willing to do it. I am willing."

Steppe also uses the clay to make doves and even eagles. She is selling her artwork to help fund the missionary trips she will be taking. Most of the $1,500 she has raised so far has come from the sale of clay doves.

"All the proceeds of my artwork go directly to missionary work," Steppe added. "This is a calling from which I will not give up. There is no retiring for me. I just want to answer God's call and help others."

If you are interested in Steppe's missionary work or her artwork, you can reach her on Facebook or e-mail her at csteppe@jcu.edu.

Police deal with DUIs as holiday weekend approaches

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

Drunk drivers kept local officers quite busy late Wednesday night and even into the early hours of Thursday morning. Two separate accidents resulted in DUI arrests, including an injury accident where a woman was taken to the hospital for a possible broken leg.

The events began to unfold around 11:20 p.m. last Wednesday. The Powell County 911 Dispatch Center received a call of a one car accident at Welch's Cut, just outside the Stanton city limits on Highway 15. It was reported that a car had left the roadway, hit a tree and overturned.

When officers, fire and emergency personnel arrived, they found a vehicle lying on it's top in a field owned by Powell County Magistrate Myers Arnett. A neighbor told officers that he saw people running into the woods on the opposite side of the road.

Officers quickly came across Johnny Hall, Jr. of Stanton. Hall had an injury to his right arm and was treated at the scene. Hall told police he was not the driver.

Residents of a nearby neighborhood called dispatchers to report that they could hear voices in the woods, on a hill, behind their homes. Officers and fire personnel searched the woods. They found two more people who had been in the accident.

Amanda Madden, of Stanton, was found with what appeared to be a seriously broken left leg. Fire personnel had to carry Madden out of the woods and down a steep hill on a back board. She was taken to St. Joseph-Mt. Sterling by Powell EMS crews.

Officers found Brady Napier, 35, of Stanton in the woods with Madden. Officers walked Napier out of the woods, wearing nothing but boxer shorts and seemingly under the influence. Police say that Hall and Madden identified Napier as the driver.

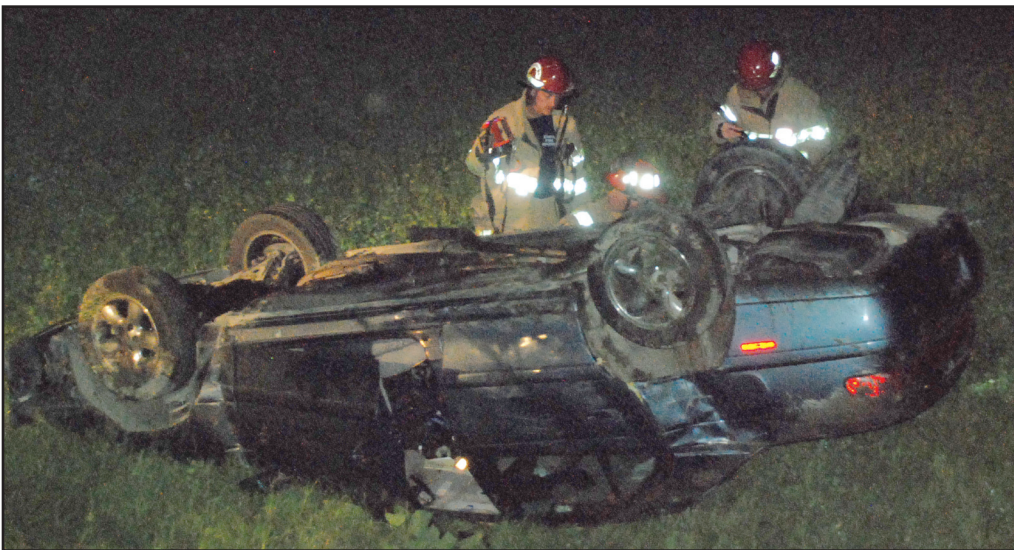

Napier was placed under arrest and charged with operating on a suspended license, DUI first offense and leaving the scene of an accident. The arrest report indicates that police stated they could smell a strong odor of alcohol on Napier; he had slurred speech and had "unstable balance." Arrest records also indicate that Napier blew a .177 on the intoxilyzer at the Stanton Police Department.

Napier was taken to the Powell County Detention Center and his bond was set at $1,000 surety. Stanton Police Officer Greg Conner is investigating the accident.

Just about three hours later, at 2:41 a.m. last Thursday, Stanton Police Sgt. James Watson was called to a one vehicle accident at the corner of West College Avenue and Blackburn Street, next to Hearne's Funeral Home. When Watson arrived he found a black 2000 Dodge Dakota had gone over the bank and was on its side against a utility pole.

Watson also found the driver, Zachary P. Bryant, 19, of Clay City at the scene. Bryant told Watson that he had lost control of the truck.

According to Watson's report, Bryant had "slurred speech, blood shot eyes and was unsteady on his feet." The report also noted Watson's observation that Bryant's pupils were "enlarged and did not change with light."

An ambulance was sent to the scene. Bryant refused medical treatment at the scene. Bryant was then asked to take part in what is known as field sobriety tests. He reported filed the tests. A blood test on Bryant was taken at 4:26 a.m. at the officer's request.

Bryant was arrested and charged with DUI.

Guest Column: Newly formed Red River Family YMCA ready for action in Powell County

By KEN SIMON
Guest Columnist

Give me a “Y”!
Why?
I’ll tell you Y!
There’s a new YMCA in town.

A YMCA is an “association of people”; not a building, a swimming program, or a recreation center. It is a movement of people helping each other to reach their highest potential and making communities better places to live.

You could say getting a local “Y” started off as an idea from a small local group, who were meeting as members of the Powell County Health Coalition. It was a cold afternoon in February 2010 when Winchester YMCA Executive-Director Bill Pace attended a Coalition meeting to discuss the possibilities of our community having a local “Y”.

During the meeting, Pace explained the details of a YMCA and the steps necessary for starting a local “Y”. Pace pointed out that everyone needs to realize that “YMCAs are not buildings; they are associations of people and programs.”

Where will the YMCA conduct its activities?

If a YMCA does not initially have a program building or facility of its own, they will usually operate out of churches, libraries, parks, schools, community buildings, etc.

Pace then stated how the Winchester Y got started

20 years ago. “Winchester began as a branch of the YMCA of Central Kentucky (Lexington) and operated out of schools, churches, parks, fields, for 10 years until they got a facility.”

What is the YMCA?

- Largest 501 © (3) not-for-profit social service agency in the US

- Operating in 120 countries worldwide

- 970 Corporate YMCAs in the US

- 2,540 branches/facilities in the US (make that 2541)

- 19,000,000+ members (50 percent are children under the age of 18)

- YMCAs are for people of all faiths, races, ages, abilities and incomes

YMCAs work to incorporate the four values: caring, honesty, respect, and responsibility into all YMCA programs and activities. It is also to put Christian principles into practice through programs that build healthy spirit, mind and body for all.

Y’s offer programs for youth, adults, families, and older adults...through youth sports, camps, family activities, teen programs, health and fitness, parent/child programs, adult sports leagues, and more.

Where do we go from here?

Pace further expressed in the meeting the need for surveys, feasibility studies, key leader interviews, and a survey of services already provided in the community. Needless to say, the tasks at hand were going to be long and tedious.

So from February 2010 to April 2011, the Health Coalition members forged ahead in their quest to obtain a local “Y” by collecting over 1,200 paper or online surveys, interviewing forty-two community leaders, and evaluating programs and services to not duplicate those already in the community.

In August of 2011, the Health Coalition’s request to become a Powell County Branch of the Winchester YMCA was accepted by the Board of Directors. The Winchester Board has supported Pace in his oversight and guidance of the newly developed “Red River Family YMCA”.

“We’re excited about the future impact a local YMCA will have for our children and families,” said Stacy Crase, founding member and local YMCA Advisory Board chairperson. Crase further explained the YMCA Vision Statement is something the Health Coalition embraced early on in the process. “We created the Coalition as a way to ‘Build strong kids, strong families, and strong communities’, we just didn’t realize it was going to include a Y”.

Who operates the YMCA in our community?

- A volunteer board of directors

- Residents of the local community

Who leads YMCA programs?

- Volunteers and paid staff play important roles

“One person cannot start a YMCA and it has taken us over two years to finally see our vision come into being,” said Crase. “It’s a great opportunity for our community to move forward.”

Estill County native J.D. Crowe is an editorial cartoonist with the Mobile, Alabama, Register.

Moving Forward

The Health Coalition has now morphed into the YMCA Advisory Board with some new members. The local “Y” has set a goal of raising $300,000 to cover five year start up costs.

What does it cost to belong or participate in YMCA programs?

- All program decisions are made locally based on local needs and preferences

- Individual costs for dues/fees will be set for each program or service as needed

Can the YMCA operate solely on membership and program fees?

- There will always be a need for annual support contributions

- Annual campaign contributions help provide the resources so no person is denied participation in a YMCA program solely by reason of financial inability to pay the fee

Why does a YMCA need charitable contributions?

Contributions help the YMCA achieve our mission in many ways:

- Furnish support to programs for those in need

- Provides the opportunity to offer highly subsidized and staff-intensive programs (teen programs, counseling, youth work)

- People get involved because they believe in our vision and it feels good to help others in their community

“While we are looking at raising this money, we are going forward with programming to get the YMCA name out there and start fundraising with our programming,” said Crase.

The First “Red River Family YMCA” Program

The first ever YMCA activity in Powell County will be a week-long Summer Day Camp to be held Monday, July 9-13 from 8 a.m. - 4 p.m. at the Stanton City Park. The Camp is geared toward 75 kids who are entering 1st – 6th grade at a cost of only $75 per child. A Camp t-shirt, breakfast and lunch will be provided. The Camp theme will have an international flavor as children will learn about other countries through various activities.

For more information or to register your child for the week-long summer day camp sign-ups will be Saturday, June 9 from 10 a.m. – 12 p.m. at the Stanton City Park. A $10 minimum deposit is required with the balance due by the first day of Camp (Monday, July 9).

The Future

In addition to the Red River Family YMCA Capital Campaign fundraising event, the local Y is discussing a flag football league, indoor t-ball, adult sports, adult walking programs, weight loss programs and more services through local community partnerships.

If you would like to volunteer, make a financial contribution, or attend YMCA meetings; the group meets every third Tuesday of the month at 12:30 p.m. at the Powell County Extension Office. For more information call Stacy Crase at (606) 663-9011 or Ken Simon at 663-3318.

Ken Simon is a member of the YMCA's task force and on the Red River Family YMCA's board. He is a former editor of the Clay City Times and is currently director of the Bowen Elementary Youth Service Center.

Guest Column: I used to believe in Leprechauns

By REV. JAMES L. SNYDER

Guest Columnist

I must make a confession. It has taken me a long time to get to the place where I am willing and comfortable to make such an admission. I think some of my friends will be shocked at what I have to say. I think it is time I come clean and confess. Sort of, clean the air, so to speak.

Simply put, I used to believe in leprechauns. I know that comes as a shock to all of my friends. At a distance, I look like a very reasonable, well-adjusted person. And the further away the better I look. The same thing goes with my distant relatives. The more distant they are the more I like them.

Nobody would suspect that I had such a problem. You cannot tell what burdens people are carrying just by looking at them.

It all came to me by way of reading books. When I was a young person, I read many books that had to do with leprechauns, rainbows and pots full of gold at the end of those rainbows. I was young and naïve at the time and believed everything I read.

Once while my father was sleeping on the couch I ask him if he believed in leprechauns and he grunted in such a way that I took it to mean that he also believed in them. If you cannot trust your father while he is sleeping, who in the world can you trust?

Many a day I spent in the woods at the end of our property looking for leprechauns. I can testify that they are rather elusive creatures but several times, I almost caught one. They always were just a few seconds quicker than I was. I looked where I thought they were but they were nowhere to be found.

Do not get me wrong here. I was never frustrated in my fruitless search of leprechauns. There is no better way to spend a day in the woods than searching for the elusive leprechaun. I began to think what I would do if I actually caught one. Then what would I do in the woods? It is always better to seek and not find than to find something and have to quit the seeking.

I think it is something like fishermen. Few fishermen really fish for fish. They fish so they can go home and brag about the one that got away. It is hard to brag about the fish you caught and then there is the messy job of cleaning those fish. No, it is better to have fished and not caught anything to have fished and caught something that you have to take home and clean.

Such was my thoughts concerning my leprechaun pursuit.

Many an evening I entertained my parents with the exciting exploits of searching and almost catching a leprechaun today. I am sure they got tired of hearing, but I never tired of telling.

Then the time came when I really had to face the facts. After almost a decade of diligently searching for leprechauns, I had to conclude that they were simply a figment of my imagination. And you know what happens to figs if you keep them around for a long time. I had to realize there were no such creatures as leprechauns.

I must confess that it was a rather sad day for me. It was the beginning of many sad days like this.

For instance, the day I realized Santa Claus was not real. Every year

I diligently prepared my Christmas list starting out with, “Dear Ole Santa,” and dictated my list of Christmas hopefuls. Often I would sit on his lap and carefully read my list to him. The last time I did this my wife made me get off his lap. Something about being too big or something like that.

To my recollection, he never made good on any of those requests. Jolly old soul? Phooey!

Then there was the Easter Bunny. This had me for quite a while. After all, I love the chocolate Easter bunnies he brought me along with the rest of the candy. Unlike Santa Claus, the Easter Bunny was very generous in dousing me with candy galore. I truly hated putting the Easter Bunny away.

Probably the last one I will mention would be when a politician says, “I feel your pain.” At first, I thought this was a genuine concern for my state of affairs. When I found out he was just playing me in his political theater I wanted him to feel some more of my pain.

Pondering this I begin to realize that many things that I have believed in turned out not to be true.

It is quite disconcerting when something you have believed in for a long time turns out to be phony. While I am confessing here, I must confess that only one thing has turned out not to be disappointing. That one thing has been the Bible. It has been the only thing that has not let me down in life. I take great comfort in Psalms 119:105, “Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.”

Many things disappoint me and I have given them up. I start each day with the only thing that will never let me down, that is the Word of God. I believe the Bible.

School board discusses upcoming budget and building issues

By KAYLA MAYS
Times Reporter

The Powell County School Board held their regular meeting last Monday afternoon. Budget and building issues ruled the meeting.

Powell County High School principal Kyle Lively presented the board members with a list of scholarship recipients from the graduating class. Donald Curtis stated, "I am amazed by the quality of kids we have." The members of the board all agreed and commended the students on a successful year.

Next, John Gilbert, of Ross and Tarrant Architects, gave the board an update on the building project and said that things were in line as they moved forward. They also discussed plans of how to finance the project and funds were presented to the board.

The restricted funds for the building project are funds that can only be used for the project and cannot be used for anything other than the additions.

The board then approved a freeze on salary increases on coaches pay. Superintendent Michael Tate explained that the way the budget is it was appropriate and it will be re-visited in 2013-2014 school year. Tate also explained that the cuts and budget issues were the toughest job he had as a superintendent and he did not take it lightly.

The board discussed having a special meeting for May 29 to discuss the tentative budget. The meeting then went into closed session for student discussion.

FATAL: Early May accident claims life embankment. The Mercury hit a utility pole and overturned.

Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Law Enforcement Officer Chad Rice cut his wrist as he reached into the vehicle trying to assist in removing the injured. According to one source, a child was in the front seat, while a female adult was in the back seat.

Rice was treated at the scene for cuts to his wrist.

Noble and the minor were taken to the Clark Regional Medical Center by ambulance. The other passenger in the car, Franki Noble, suffered serious injuries. She was taken by helicopter to the UK Medical Center. She succumbed to those injuries 11 days later. Flippo was apparently not injured as any injuries or treatments were listed in the state police report.

The accident remains under investigation by Trooper Brandon Eversole.

Good Intentions

By: Susan G. Rogers 5/12/12

I passed by my friend the other day and with brief words we went on our way
I saw great pain in her downcast eyes
But did not know that her time was nigh
I hurried on not taking much thought that it was my friendship that she sought
I had planned to visit her someday
Then was surprised to hear someone say
Your friend has passed on, I thought you knew she has een ill for a year or two
I fought back tears for then I realized
I took no time to tell her goodbye owing my head I then prayed this prayer,
"Lord, help me to show my friends I care."
for good intentions will not show love to our friends God sent to us from above.

Mom it's been 5 years today
(May 24, 2007)
Since God called you away.
He took you to a better place.
It sure is lonely here at your old home place, but I know you are with us every step of the way.

You told us you would check in on us from time to time.
How do I know this? Because you said so in the letter you wrote.
Mom we sure miss hearing your sweet voice saying I love you and everythings gonna be okay.

We know you are in Heaven looking down on us,
Praying we get our life right with God so we can meet you there some sweet day.

We love and miss you, Mom

Spring Vegetable Insect & Disease Management

Last weekend I watched as the pretty, little white butterflies surrounded my cabbage and broccoli, then I remembered that these were not pretty butterflies after all, but were imported cabbage worm moths. Within a few days, If I don't get spraying, my cabbage and broccoli will be riddled with little holes, left behind by these green disgusting worms. There are lots of bugs and diseases working out in your garden this year, brought on by an extremely mild winter. Go over your garden this week and anticipate some of the following pest problems:

Cucumber beetles are starting to show up. They will begin to bite on your cucumbers and other vining crops. What these beetles are known for, primarily, is a disease called bacterial wilt.

This disease affects your cucumber vines later on in the season. Your vines will begin to bloom and run, then all of a sudden, they are dead. The cucumber beetles, (both striped and spotted ones) will inject the disease organism into the vascular system of the plant, once the plant is up and growing the tissues are blocked, then the plant will die.

Spray your cucumber plants and watermelon and muskmelon plants now with Sevin, to avoid problems with bacterial wilt and the cucumber beetles. Another spray or dusting may be helpful in another seven days.

Flea beetles are feeding in the garden now, but you usually won't see them, but you will see their damage they leave behind. Dust or spray your garden plants, especially your eggplant, tomatoes and potatoes with Sevin for flea beetle control.

Many of us have already planted thousands of expensive tomato plants. Nothing is more disheartening than finding your tomato plant cut off at the ground. While this could be a local rabbit, or friendly ground hog, more than likely this time of year, a cutworm has paid you a visit out in your garden.

If cutworms are possibly the culprit here, dig around the plant with a trowel or your fingers, if he is there, you can find him rather quickly and do away with him. Collars made of aluminum foil or toilet paper rolls can be planted around the plant when you first transplant, but this is not practical for a garden with 50 plants. For extended cutworm control, spray the plants and the soil-line with Sevin to keep the cutworms away.

Diseases in the garden are just beginning to get established. For most garden diseases on tomato and other vegetables, use Daconil every 7-14 days. Daconil is a fungicide which prevents such diseases as early and late blight in tomatoes.

Many of us will remember the disease outbreak in June of 2009 when all our tomatoes died overnight. Spray now to prevent any disease problem from occurring in your vegetables. All fungicides have to be applied BEFORE the disease hits!

Planting Sweet Potatoes

Sweet potatoes are listed now as one of the healthiest vegetables you can grow in your garden. Sweet potatoes need good rich fertile soil and can be planted now. Slips are grown from sweet potatoes, usually in a hot-house or greenhouse and are usually ready to plant around May 15. Look for varieties such as Beauregard, O Henry and Covington are good for Kentucky and most of these will be mature in 100 days after planting.

Plant sweet potatoes in mounds, or hills, with about 8-10 inches of soil around them. Space plants in hills about 3 feet apart and place plants in the row every 15-18 inches. Soil pH for sweet potatoes should be anywhere between 5.2 and 6.7.

Temperatures below 55 degrees either in the spring or fall can be detrimental to sweet potatoes.

Give sweet potatoes plenty of room to spread and grow. Fencing to keep the deer away may be your biggest worry with this vegetable this summer.

Wait on the Pumpkins

I always get calls in mid-May about planting pumpkins. Pumpkins and the fall gourds and squash need to be planted around June 10-15, if the weather permits. If you plant these seeds too early, your vines will grow and produce, but your pumpkins will be ready to pick on Labor

Day. Most of these planted now or earlier, will rot before Halloween. No one needs a pumpkin on Labor day, so wait until mid June and your pumpkins will be ready for the first of October to decorate your home and businesses.

Plant pumpkins in hills 8-12 feet apart. Give them plenty of room to grow and spread out.

Regulations for Creek Gravel Removal

Creek gravel is a bountiful commodity here in Powell County, but with recent regulations through the Kentucky Division of Water, removing that gravel has become difficult at best. The Kentucky division of Water has provided these guidelines for creek gravel excavation:

- Excavate gravel by using backhoes and front-end loaders to scoop and lift the gravel and place it outside the stream channel. Perform work from the bank of the stream, avoiding use of vehicles in the creek bed.
- Restrict gravel excavation to the top 12 inches of gravel bars outside the stream flow.
- Excavate only once a year during low-flow periods during the late summer or fall. Avoid removing gravel during the fish spawning season from April 15-June 15.
- Maintain a buffer of 10 feet between the shoreline and the work area to minimize vegetation loss.
- In-stream activities that significantly increase sedimentation or alter stream flow are violations of state water quality standards and may be subject to enforcement action.

Times Photo by Mike Reed

Remember the tomato blight of 2009? This picture was taken the last week of June in 2009 when late blight completely destroyed most of our tomatoes. While we hope we don't see this disease ever again, spraying now with preventive fungicides such as Daconil, may be all that saves your crop if such a disease appears again here in 2012.

Support our troops and pray for them daily !

Calling All Dreamer's! Powell County Public Library Launches Summer Reading Program

Readers of all ages will explore the night this summer as Powell County Public Library presents "Dream Big----Read!" it's about dreams, stars and planets, bats, owls, spooky stories and more.

LEAP takes a look at Jackson County and new ideas

By TRAVIS WICKLINE
Special to the Times

This past week, the LEAP students travelled to Jackson County as part of their ongoing leadership class.

We started the day at the Jackson Energy District office where we heard from Larry Lakes of Jackson Energy and Keith Gabbard of Peoples Rural Telephone Cooperative. Larry gave us a brief history of Jackson Energy and also talked about some of the new technologies that they have implemented which include smart meters that provide daily data regarding energy usage and also report outages within minutes of their occurrence.

He also talked about some of the challenges people today are facing regarding rising energy costs and how the company is striving to offset those concerns. One initiative allows for a box to be placed in the home that provides the user with daily information about their energy usage for the day and month which allows the user to be more proactive in their energy conservation. This can lead to a lowered electric bill at the end of the month.

Keith Gabbard then spoke about People's Rural Telephone Cooperative, their history, initiatives, community service and future. He indicated that the company had diversified several years ago by expanding into the wireless service in becoming part owner in Appalachian Wireless as well as venturing into broadband and TV service.

Currently, they are upgrading their entire phone, TV and broadband services to include fiber optic cable to the home for every customer in their two county service area. This will enable internet speeds of up to 20MB/sec (and higher) and will allow for more channels for their TV service. While this will be a substantial benefit to their customers, this was particularly aggravating to me considering that AT&T (one of the world's largest telecom companies) will not even run DSL in Powell County. We also discussed ways in which a cooperative could theoretically come to Powell County to provide those services.

From there, we travelled to Triple R Ranch where we learned about their cattle operation as well as their ministry that works with children (and adults) to pair them with horses which they learn to guide, ride and so on. They have found that the children who have been to the ranch experience fewer behavior problems than before and also do better in school.

To wind down the day, we went to the Jackson County Regional Food Center and their Industrial Park. At the food center, we saw how they can help farmers and entrepreneurs who want to produce a prepared food product to be ready for market. This service is particularly helpful for products that are in between home batched quantities and large scale production quantities. This enables producers to ramp up their production from small test and home batches, through the intermediate step of the kitchen and then on to larger scale production.

At the Industrial Park we toured Phillips Diversified manufacturing. There, they produce laptop carts which allow simultaneous charging of up to 40 laptops through one socket. They also produce other types of carts for at least one other end user. They currently employ about 40 people and run one daytime shift. They also indicated that it was difficult to run more shifts due to lack of a skilled workforce.

It was another great outing for the group. The connections that we have made and the lessons we have learned will help to serve us and our communities in the days and years to come.

Trust for Life Organ and Tissue Registry: Facts about life

What is the Kentucky Circuit Clerk's Trust for Life?

In 1992, the Circuit Clerks of Kentucky recognized a tragedy. 18 people die every day waiting for an organ transplant, yet Kentuckians were not aware of their ability to save them.

The Association of Circuit Court Clerks supported legislation through the Kentucky General Assembly that allows every person obtaining a Kentucky driver's license or state ID an opportunity to donate $1.00 to promote awareness about organ donation in Kentucky. These $1 donations are put into a Trust - The Circuit Court Clerk's Trust for Life.

The Trust for Life is a 501C(3) non-profit organization that is dedicated to educating the state, dispelling myths and raising awareness about this crucial need.

What is the need?

More than 800 children and adults in Kentucky are waiting for a life-saving transplant.

Over 113,000 people in the United States are on the waiting list.

Eighteen (18) people die every day waiting on organ transplant.

Every 14 minutes, someone is added to the waiting list.

In 2010, approximately 22,000 successful organ transplants were performed. It is estimated that twice as many could have been performed if more people donated organs.

What can be donated?

- heart
- liver
- corneas / whole eyes
- tendons
- lungs
- pancreas
- heart valves
- bone
- kidneys
- small bowel
- vessels
- skin

What is the Kentucky Organ Donor Registry?

It is a confidential and secure record of people who, if they can, want to help others after their death.

Everyone can join the Kentucky Organ Donor Registry to save lives - regardless of age or medical history. Ability to actually donate organs is determined at declaration of brain death.

What are some myths?

They won't try to save me. •• FACT: The ER doctors are trying every way they know how to save your life. They do not know that you are on the Registry.

I can't afford to be a donor. •• FACT: There is absolutely no cost to your family when you are declared a potential donor.

I'm too sick, worn out and old. •• FACT: The oldest donor to date in KY was 84. Everyone is a possible candidate to save someone's life or give sight.

How does someone join Kentucky's Organ Donor Registry?

The "orange donor dot" or signing your license are not the best ways to state your wishes to help others through donation. Place your name on the computer Registry to make your wishes known.

Say YES at your Circuit Court Clerk's Office or go online www.donatelifeky.org. It's easy, free and will only take a minute, but the worth is priceless.

- If you are on the waiting list, a recipient or a donor family member: would you share your story to encourage others? Trust For Life is hoping to have at least one story published from each of the 120 Kentucky counties. If so, please contact Frances Click or Shelley Heavrin Snyder at (859) 945-5433.

Memorial Day: What is a Vet?

He is the cop on the beat who spent six months in Saudi Arabia sweating two gallons a day making sure the armored personnel didn't run out of fuel.

He is the barroom loudmouth, dumber than five wooden planks, whose overgrown frat-boy behavior is outweighed a hundred times in the cosmic scales by four hours of exquisite bravery near the 38th parallel.

She (or he) is the nurse who fought against futility and went to sleep sobbing every night for two solid years in Da Nang.

He is the POW who went away one person and came back another - or didn't come back AT ALL.

He is the Parris Island drill instructor who has never seen combat, but has saved countless lives by turning slouchy, no-account rednecks and gang members into Marines, and teaching them to watch each other's backs.

He is the parade-riding Legionnaire who pins on his ribbons and medals with a prosthetic hand.

He is the career quartermaster who watches the ribbons and medals pass him by.

He is the three anonymous heroes in The Tomb of the Unknowns, whose presence at the Arlington National Cemetery must forever preserve the memory of all anonymous heroes who valor dies unrecognized with them on the battlefield or in the ocean's sunless deep.

He is the old guy bagging groceries at the supermarket, palsied now and aggravatingly slow, who helped liberate a Nazi death camp and who wishes all day long that his wife were still alive to hold him when the nightmares come.

He is an ordinary and yet an extraordinary human being, a person who offered some of his life's most vital years in the service of his country, and who sacrificed his ambitions so others would not have to sacrifice theirs.

He is a soldier and a savior and a sword against the darkness, and he is nothing more than the finest, greatest testimony on behalf of the finest, greatest nation ever known.

So remember, each time you see someone who has served our country, just lean over and say Thank You. That's all most people need, and in most cases it will mean more than any medals they could have been awarded or were awarded.

Two little words that mean a lot, "THANK YOU."

It's the soldier, not the reporter, who gave us our freedom of the press.

It's the soldier, not the poet, who gave us our freedom of speech.

It's the soldier, not the campus organizer, who gave us freedom to demonstrate.

It's the soldier who salutes the flag, who serves others with respect for the flag, and whose coffin is draped by the flag, who allows the protester to burn the flag.

Prayer for our Servicemen: Lord, hold our troops in Your loving hands. Protect them as they protect us. Bless them and their families for the selfless acts they perform for us in our time of need. Amen.

Of all the gifts you could give a U.S. serviceman, prayer is the very best one.

State launches new child support website

The Kentucky Child Support Enforcement Program (CSE) has launched a new customer service website to better assist the families it serves.

The new website is <http://csws.chfs.ky.gov/csws/>.

The site allows the general public and employers to securely access their cases and account information; apply for child support; locate a child support office; make payments and estimate a child support payment. Visitors to the website will also be able to view child support news bulletins.

Child Support Enforcement is part of the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services (CHFS) Department for Income Support (DIS). Child support staff and contractors in every county provide assistance to parents with minor children seeking financial support from a noncustodial parent.

Cabinet for Health and Family Services Secretary Audrey Tayse Haynes said the new website was created with the best interests of child support customers and their employers in mind.

"This one-stop website will make it easier for noncustodial and custodial parents to find answers to their questions while ultimately increasing access to more resources to help parents care for their children," she said.

DIS Deputy Commissioner Steve Veno said the website is a vital tool in managing child support in Kentucky.

"We can provide better client service, and we will see increased collections and greater compliance because of the ease of this site," he said. "Our customers have long asked for more self-service options, and we are answering that request with this new website."

Veno said because the website will help provide answers to general questions about child support, it will alleviate long waits for customers calling the child support hotline (1-800-248-1163) for more in-depth information.

In state fiscal year 2011, the Child Support Enforcement office collected more than $407 million in child support payments.

"Any amount of child support is valuable to the children receiving it," Veno said. "Simplifying the payment process contributes to our children's safety, health and well-being, and that's our goal with this new website."

Veno said participants who establish accounts will be able to access information related to their child support cases along with bulletins and appointment information. They will be able to update personal data, including employment information, direct deposit (for custodial parents), and health and military records. Case summaries that include current status and payment history will also be available just for members.

Participants may also upload records and new information for their caseworkers to access. Customers and caseworkers will also have the ability to simultaneously co-browse the same information.

Another portal of the website allows department staff to analyze specific or general data and perform searches for hard-to-locate parents.

Veno said this area of the website will enhance CSE caseworkers' performance and accuracy.

Click it or ticket campaign begins

Motorists who refuse to wear their seat belts – beware. The 2012 national "Click It or Ticket" Memorial Day seat belt enforcement mobilization kicks off May 21 to help save lives by cracking down on those who don't buckle up.

Despite a wealth of data showing that seat belts save lives – and also despite implementation of a primary seat belt law – Kentucky's 82 percent seat belt usage rate lags behind the national rate of 84 percent. Therefore, the Kentucky Office of Highway Safety (KOHS) is supporting state and local law enforcement across the country in their efforts to strongly enforce seat belt laws around the clock.

"Kentucky undoubtedly experiences far too many fatalities that could have been avoided with the simple use of a seat belt," said Transportation Cabinet Secretary Mike Hancock. "Clearly this is an indication that people are not taking the law seriously or they are just not aware of the huge risk taken by not buckling up."

There were 721 total highway fatalities in Kentucky in 2011 with 576 killed in motor vehicles. Fifty-eight percent of those killed in motor vehicles were not wearing a seat belt.

Hancock said the campaign this year will place extra emphasis on enforcement at nighttime, when fatal motor vehicle crashes are most likely to involve vehicle occupants who were not buckled up. Last year, 67 percent of people killed in crashes between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. were unrestrained.

"Too many motorists don't realize the importance of wearing a seat belt, and are severely injured or killed because of it," said KOHS Director Bill Bell. "That's why officers are prepared to ticket anyone not buckled up. No warnings and no excuses."

Although enforcement officers will be prevalent during the campaign, Bell emphasized, "The 'Click It or Ticket' campaign is not about writing tickets. It's about awareness and saving lives, and we are honored to have a family from Kentucky to help spread this message."

The family of Megan Miller of Owensboro is featured in two KOHS public service announcements airing statewide during the enforcement campaign. Megan was killed at age 17 when she was ejected from a vehicle crash.

"For her not to be wearing her seat belt that one day is all it took," says brother Myles.

"You just don't think you will ever lose a child that young," says mother Mischelle. "We miss her so much, and we wanted to do these commercials in her memory. We know she will make a difference."

While this year's "Click It or Ticket" enforcement mobilization runs May 21 through June 3, motorists should know that officers are out enforcing seat belt laws year-round.

"Motorists should buckle up every time they go out, both day and night," said Bell.

For more on the national Click It or Ticket mobilization, please visit www.nhtsa.gov. To view the Miller family public service announcements, please visit <http://highway-safety.ky.gov/>.

ENCOURAGING WORD: FREEDOM IS NOT A DREAM

Howard Coop
Guest Columnist

a constitutional guarantee. In the Bill of Rights, adopted as the first ten amendments to the constitution on December 15, 1791, freedom is defined in Our nation, the United States of America, is known around the world as “the land of the free and the home of the brave” whose citizens love liberty, cherish freedom, and are willing to pay the price for these precious possessions. So, people from all over the world desire to come here.

The freedom we cherish is not a mere dream; it is a constitutional guarantee. In the Bill of Rights, adopted as the first ten amendments to the constitution on December 15, 1791, freedom is defined in clear and concise language.

The first freedom to be defined is the freedom of religion: “Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.”

The second freedom to be defined is the freedom of speech and the press: “Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press.”

The third freedom to be defined is the freedom of assembly: “Congress shall make no law...abridging...the right of the people to peaceable assemble.”

The fourth freedom is the freedom to keep and bear arms: “A well-regulated militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms, shall not be infringed.”

The Bill of Rights defines other freedoms, or rights, including regulations regarding search and seizure, provisions concerning prosecution, and the right to a speedy trial.

A walk through a cemetery on Memorial Day will be revealing. Small flags of our nation wafting in the May breeze will mark the graves of those who, in times of need, responded to the call of duty and served in the armed forces of our nation. Some returned, after a tour of duty, to resume a normal life. Others, wounded in service, returned to live with disability. But some made the supreme sacrifice and never returned.

Those small flags on those graves are poignant reminders that the cost of freedom is dear. Those buried in those graves risked everything to defend and preserve the freedom we cherish.

CITY OF STANTON ORDINANCE NO. 12-004
AN ORDINANCE RELATING TO THE WASTEWATER RATES
WHEREAS, the City of Stanotn is faced with ever increasing operational costs associated with the maintenance and operation of its existing sewer systems, and is likewise, soon to cease treatment of wastewater with the creation of the Red River Wastewater Authority and the establishment of a regional wastewater facility; and in that Rural Development and various funding agencies require that the City enact an ordinance setting sewer rates to go into effect within 60 days prior to the opening of the new wastewater facility and operation by the Red River Wastewater Authority; and whereas a rate study has been done by Bell Engineering which has determined the acceptable rates for the City of Stanton's customers given the relevent circumstances, and in order to protect the financial stability of the City of Stanton, it is deemed as necessary and appropriate by the City Council of the City of Stanton to increase the charges for sewer services being provided by the City of Stanton; NOW BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY OF STANTON, KENTUCKY AS FOLLOWS:
Section 1. The following are adopted as the sewer rates for sewer customers of the City of Stanton. All Ordinaces or Resolutions of the City of Stanton currently in place which conflict with this Ordinance are hereby amended and altered to reflect the changes contained herein.
SEWER RATES
Gallons used per month	Cost
First 2,000 gallons, (isnide city limits)	$21.00 (minimum)
Per additional thousand gallons, (inside city limits)	$8.00
Section 2. This Ordinance shall take effect immediately however the rate increases shall not be effective and charged to the customers until the Ciyt Council, within 60 days of the Red River Wastewater Authority taking over day to day operation of the new regional wastewater facility.
Enacted this the 15 day of May 2012.
/s/ Dale Allen, Mayor City of Stanton
Attest: /s/ Stephanie Phillipe City Clerk, City of Stanton

CITY OF STANTON, KENTUCKY ORDINANCE NO. 12-003
AN ORDINANCE GRANTING A MAP AMENDMENT/ZONE CHANGE RELATIVE TO A CERTAIN TRACT OF PROPERTY DESCRIBED MORE PARTICULARLY AT DEED BOOK 159, PAGE 558, RECORDS OF THE POWELL COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE
WHEREAS, Dotson Management, LLC, owns certain real property located in the city limits of Stanton, Powell County, Kentucky, which is more particularly described at Deed Book 159, Page 558, records of the Powell County Clerk's Office; and WHEREAS, Dotson Managemmet, LLC, has requested a zone change relative to said property from its current zoning classification of R-1 to B-2; and WHEREAS, the Stanton City Council has reviewed the recommendation of the Stanton Planning Commission, considered the arguments of both sides to this matter and has made a determination to decide the matter, and WHEREAS, the Stanton City Council has found pursuant to KRS 100.213 and otherwise that the existing zoning classification given to the property of R-1 is inappropriate and the proposed zoning classification is appropriate; and that there have been major changes of an economic, physical or social nature within the area involved which were not anticipated in the adopted comprehensive plan and which have substantially altered the basic character of said area; and WHEREAS, the City Council of the City of Stanton, Kentucky deems it advisable and in the best interests of the City of Stanton to grant the requested zone change from its current classification as R-1 to B-2; NOW, THEREFORE E IT ORDAINED, by the City of Stanton, Kentucky as follows:
SECTION 1. That the City Council for the reasons stated above does hereby grant the request of Dotson Management, LLC, to change the zoning classification of the subject property from R-1 to B-2. The property with which the request is made and which the zone change is granted is more particularly described as follows:
That certain tract of land lying and being in the City of Stanton, Powell County, Kentucky, on Stanton Road and more particularly desried as follows:
Being all of tract 3 and all of Tract 4 of the Powell County Board of Education "Old Middle School Property" plat of which is recorded at Plat Cabinet 1, Slide 77, records of the Powell County Clerk's Office.
Being a portion of the same property, (being Parcel III), conveyed to Dotson Management, LLC, from Roland Dotzon, single and Joanne Dotson, single by deed dated the 6th day of June, 2005, of record in Deed Book 159, Page 558, records of the Powell County Clerk's Office.
SECTION 2. This Ordinance shall become effective upon publication as required by law.
Enacted this the 10th day of May, 2012.

Pirates slide into district

By
GREG MCINTOSH
Times Sportswriter

The Powell County baseball team has been able to rise to any challenge in the 2012 season. Powell had been mowing down the competition until last weekend in the Fayette County Invitational where the Pirates lost two out of three games.

The Pirates looked to bounce back in the final week of the regular season.

Last Tuesday, the Pirates faced the number five ranked team in the state, the Lafayette Generals. The game moved to Lafayette due to the wet field conditions and the Stanton City Park. Lafayette felt at home and scored three runs in the bottom of the first inning off of Pirate pitcher Trey Marcum.

The Pirates were held scoreless in the second inning as well. The Generals exploded for twelve runs in the second inning off of Marcum and Caleb McCoy. Mental mistakes and fielding errors hurt the Pirates in the inning, along with the hits from the Lafayette bats. The Generals lead 15 - 0 over the Pirates.

Powell could not score in the third or fourth innings. Jacob Hall held the Generals scoreless in the third and fourth innings for the Pirates.

Cody Morton collected the first base hit for the Pirates in the fifth inning and scored along with Billy Hatmaker on a single by Ryan Smith. Powell fell to Lafayette by the score of 15 - 2.

Last Thursday, Powell traveled to Montgomery County to face the Indians.

Montgomery defeated the Pirates earlier in the season. Powell once again had their bats silenced by the Montgomery pitching. The Pirates managed only one run in the game.

David Hayes led off the third inning for Powell with a hit, Elliot Hale also singled and Billy Hatmaker drove in the run with a base hit. Montgomery put six runs on the board in the second inning off of Hatmaker, the Pirates pitcher.

Three errors in the inning put Powell behind in the game. Montgomery cruised to a 7 - 1 win over Powell.

Last Friday, the Pirates finished the regular season at home against the Buckhorn Wildcats. It was senior night for the eight Pirate graduates. Powell seniors are Frank Spencer, David Hayes, Elliot Hale, Ryan Centers, Matt Pelfrey, Cory Meade, Cody Morton, and Joey Johnson.

Powell jumped out to a quick 5 - 0 lead after the first inning. Frank Spencer pitched the first two innings for the Pirates.

and three runs in the fourth inning as well. Ryan Centers tripled in the second inning for the Pirates. Cody Morton, David Hayes, and Chance Snowden each pitched one inning for the Pirates.

Powell beat Buckhorn

11 - 0 on an emotional senior night at the Stanton City Park.

Powell ends the regular season with a record of 26 - 10 and the regular season 56th District championship.

Powell was scheduled to play Owsley County on Monday in the opening round of the 56th District Tournament at Owsley County. Estill County and Lee County play in the other opening round game.

The championship game was scheduled for Tuesday night.

Lady Pirates advance with heart stopping 7-6 come-from-behind win

By JAMES COOK

On the website Bluegrass Rivals there is a self appointed softball guru who discusses 14th region softball. Known as the Strike Out King, the anonymous contributor made some bold predictions as the 56th District Girls Softball Tournament got underway on Monday.

Prediction number one, Estill wins easily over Owsley.

Check.

Prediction number two, Lee upsets Powell.

Almost.

The Powell County Lady Pirates overcame a lack-luster performance to score five runs with two outs in their final at bat to win, 7-6. It was a game that was quite nerve racking for Powell fans and became a huge disappointment for Lee fans.

The Lady Kats came ready to play. After both teams held each other scoreless for three innings, Lee scored twice in the fourth inning. Powell pushed a run across in their half of the fourth to make it 2-1.

But Lee scored two more in the fifth inning. Key hits, costly Powell errors and some hit batsmen led to the scoring. Powell tacked on another run in the sixth to make it 4-2.

Lee took advantage once again of miscues in the seventh inning to take what seemed to be a commanding 6-2 lead into the final at bat for Powell. Powell did start a rally.

Shaylan Mays was hit by a pitch and went to third on a single by Ashleigh Bolduc. Eighth grader Alyssa Pennington came in to run for Bolduc and stole second base. But Brittany Black missed a take sign and lined a shot to the Lee shortstop. Pennington had a good jump from second and was doubled off.

Powell was down to their last out, trailing by four runs.

Kenzie Barnett drew a walk after picking up two strikes and so did Whitney Cook to load the bases. Erika Tipton slapped a single into left field, scoring Mays and Barnett, as Cook went to third. The score was now 6-4.

Sarah Trent pinch ran for Tipton and stole second base uncontested. Shawnda Maynard then drew a walk to reload the bases. It was decision time for Powell Coach Dave Faulkner.

"I thought about using a pinch hitter for Nikki Wells, she had a tough night at the plate and I had a girl who wore out the ball in the cage earlier in the day," he said after the game. "Glad I didn't now."

Wells hit a line shot to deep left center field. The ball went into a hole near the fence, but the Lee County centerfielder went for it. By the time the outfielder raised her hands Wells had made it to third.

A discussion was held for nearly 10 minutes to clear up the ruling. Umpire Christy Combs ruled that based on pre-game discussions, if the player went for it and then raised their hands, the batter got two bases from that point. Wells had already passed first and Combs awarded her third base. That meant that all three runs scored and Powell squeaked out the 7-6 win.

"It was an exciting game and I'm glad we won," Faulkner said. "But you have to feel for the Lee players. They came ready to play and played well. But we made it through and we'll get ready to play in the finals and then on to the region."

Powell was scheduled to play Estill in the championship game on Wednesday. The Lady Pirates will host the 14th Region Tournament next week.

Golf savings can lead to saving lives

The American Lung Association's 2012 Golf Tour Book is the golfer's key to saving at golf facilities throughout the region. The popular discount golfing booklet offers more reduced rounds and range discounts than ever before, bringing a welcomed affordability and new enjoyment to the hobby. This year's Golf Tour Book is good for more than 5,000 discounted rounds at over 500 golf courses, practice ranges and indoor facilities in Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee and three other states. Listed in the package are courses in and around Powell County, including Beechfork Golf Club and Meadows Golf Course in Clay City.

Each participating course offers a reduced rate for one or more plays. Some courses allow golfers to play one round a month, and 132 clubs offer unlimited rounds. Golf Tour Books may be purchased for only $35 a piece or four for $105 - a buy 3, get 1 free "fabulous foursome special."

According to Carolyn Embry, who coordinates the program, Golf Tour Books are perfect for golfers who want to play more often, but need to curb spending. Revenue from the program helps fund medical research; lung health education; support groups for people with chronic lung ailments; and advocacy for public policy in support of the charity's mission to save lives by improving lung health and preventing lung disease. "Remember to pick up extra Golf Tour Books for family members and friends or for any special gift-giving occasions," said Embry.

Golf Tour Books may be ordered by called the American Lung Association at 1-877-893-5864 or by sending a check to American Lung Association, P.O. Box 9067, Louisville, Kentucky 40209. They are also available a branches of AAA in Louisville, Elizabethtown, Owensboro, Bowling Green and Paducah or at the Benton Golf and Country Club in western Kentucky.
